Question No. 1 Affordable Housing Moratorium

Annie Radermacher asked the following question:

Is Council able to petition to State Government to get a moratorium on affordable housing boarding houses since none of them have been found to be affordable. What can we do to stop this scourge on our residential areas when it's not in fitting with any of the areas and all it has done is cause issues for our residents?

The Mayor took the question on notice.

Question No. 2 Cost of Code of Conduct complaints

John Anderson asked the following question:

Not long ago Cr Lyon complained in a letter to the Echo that my Code of Conduct complaints had cost Council thousands of dollars in terms of a professional conduct reviewer. Putting aside the question of whether alleged Councillor conduct on the day in question might have been the ultimate cause of said expenditure, could Cr Lyon please indicate precisely how much was paid out?

Cr Lyon responded:

Yes, of course. I do find it interesting that after six months exclusion through inappropriate behaviour, from attending public access and then complaining about the way we read out his things that he still doesn't now actually turn up even though he's allowed to.

$2850 is the amount that John Anderson cost the Council and the community in terms of the code of conduct complaints that were referred to, which was against four Councillors. There has been 12 hours of staff time as well. There has subsequently been 11 other complaints lodged by him.

The irony is the actual code of conduct complaint in question where he was saying we weren't listening to him, and we were talking amongst ourselves, he'd actually made an interesting point and a valid point and that was what we were discussing at the time so maybe he needs to reflect on that.

Question No. 3 Legal privilege

Coorabella Vista Pty Ltd asked the following question:

Recently Council's lawyer Ralph James cleverly (he thought) avoided answering a question about his professional duties vis-à-vis the Mayor's performance in the Chair by claiming legal privilege i.e. client confidentiality. Does Mr James concede that it is the Council which is his client, not the Mayor, and that accordingly in relation to the Mayor he is in the relevant situation merely another employee of the Council and must provide the information which was legitimately sought – unless of course he would prefer to have the matter sorted by the Legal Services Commission?

Legal Counsel responded:

Legal professional privilege, also called client legal privilege, protects confidential communications and confidential documents between a lawyer and a client made for the dominant purpose of the lawyer providing legal advice to the client..

Clause 5(1) of Schedule 1 to the GIPA Act states that it is conclusively presumed that there is an overriding public interest against disclosure of information that would be privileged from production in legal proceedings on the ground of client legal privilege (legal professional privilege), unless the person subject to that privilege has waived the privilege.

In my role as Legal Counsel my client is Council. All of my instructions come from or through the General Manager

When I answered the question I had no instructions to waive privilege. I will not waive privilege unless I am instructed to do so.

If the Legal Services Commission tells me that I am wrong I will abide by its determination.

Question No. 4 Holiday letting cap

Community Alliance for Byron Shire asked the following question:

Why were areas in New Brighton and South Golden Beach not included in the proposed 365 day short term holiday letting cap at the last Planning meeting?

The Director Sustainable Environment and Economy responded:

In terms of referring back to the report that went to Council, we were relying on some previous data analysis that had been undertaken by staff to support the amendments previously for 90 days across the Shire as a whole. When we looked at that, South Golden, New Brighton and Ocean Shores as an area as a whole had one of the lowest frequent available listings as a proportion of dwellings supply when you compared to other suburbs. It was somewhere around 9%. So when we looked at that analysis and looked at the hotspot maps in preparing the new amendments we didn't consider adding, per se, South Golden or New Brighton at that point.

The other issue is we hadn't really had representations from that community around their thoughts, one way or the other and neither of those areas had previously been mapped in an earlier precinct map planning proposal, I think that predated me being here at Council. That being said, should we get some submissions from the community or the chamber, we can have a look at that once the gateway hopefully is issued and we go on exhibition more formally with that planning proposal.

Question No. 5 Mullumbimby to Brunswick Heads cycle path

Matthew O'Reilly asked the following question:

Can Council please clarify the status of the proposed Mullumbimby to Brunswick Heads dedicated cycle path?

The Director Infrastructure Services responded:

With the Mullumbimby to Brunswick Heads cycleway, in summary, Council resolved through resolution 19-611 to make the Brunswick to Mullumbimby cycleway it's next priority in terms of cycleway. That was reliant on funding being made available from savings in relation to the Byron to Suffolk Park cycleway which was funded by the election commitment funding from the NSW Government.

We're in the process of finalising, in the next few weeks, the Suffolk Park cycleway and that will release funds to come forward to commence works, design etc. on the cycleway. Further to that, at the last Council meeting, through resolution 20-611 Council resolved to also apply under the bush fire local economy recovery fund for the full contribution for the construction of the cycleway. That will be based at this stage as an on-road cycleway but through the resolution 20-611 we'll be considering options for that to come back to Council before we fully proceed with those works. The estimate of those works at this stage is approximately $6m.

Question No. 6 Residential Strategy

Duncan Dey asked the following question:

Councillors, would you please hold off on the Residential Strategy for all or any of the following reasons?

- 1. it is based on out-of-date information (2017) on current uptake;*
- 2. it doesn't sit within a growth management strategy;*
- 3. it is predicated on a limitless capacity to supply water, thus requiring a contentious new dam (under current thinking);*
- 4. it is predicated on a limitless capacity to get rid of sewage, which is already a huge headache within the Belongil catchment, for example;*
- 5. it is predicated on a limitless capacity to transport people into and out of these towns (each of whose amenity already suffers traffic chaos and parking stress);*
- 6. other reasons to come.*

There were no responses, however the Mayor advised that once the item was dealt with today, Duncan Dey would become aware of the answer.

The meeting adjourned at 11.57am and reconvened at 12.13pm.

DELEGATES' REPORTS

1. Rous Meeting on Wednesday 16 December 2020

Cr Richardson advised he will be resubmitting his notice of motion that was unsuccessful last time for Rous to conduct and engage a consultant to provide thorough reports on water tanks, demand management, recycled water for both drinking and non-drinking to sit alongside any EIS work for the dam. I'll also be moving that we take the term of preferred option off the table until all options are on the table. Not too sure how I'll go – I'm an optimist.

2. NRJO

Cr Richardson advised he was part of the launching of our Northern Rivers brand. We still as a Council have diplomatically stated that we won't be providing funding that's been requested to us. But we're wishing them all luck. A significant percentage, if not the majority of sign up businesses are from the Byron Shire so they understand the benefits of having a brand from a commercial point of view for food products etc, but that was a few weeks ago.

3. Meeting with Reflections

Cr Richardson advised that the General Manager, Ms Burt, and himself met with Minister Pavey, Ben Franklin, Reflections and the café etc, trying to find a way forward for the bags to stay a bit longer until they get clarity with their Development Applications. That was supported, certainly verbally, by the Minister and their Departments. There is a very clear thrust for the café to be getting their Development Application into gear to move back. Reflections is probably going to be a 'pricklier' one, as it is one state department next to another. We were informed that, from the Government's perspective, they have a policy of retreat for any of their infrastructure. Which didn't go down well with the Reflections group. But we will see. For us it was just a matter of not wanting machinery on the beach in December and January, also with storms when potentially we could have all sorts of erosion issues right now. So just to give a little bit of leeway to get to a final solution so to speak.

4. LGNSW Annual Conference

Cr Ndiaye advised that 'they' (Crs Ndiaye, Lyon, and Coorey) attended the LGNSW Annual (Virtual) Conference, where they had to vote on 149 different notices of motion. It was really hard and she can't wait until they are back in person again, because it was really dry.
